Angel was my first roommate after high school and we grew close I always thought of her as my sister. We grew apart and went our separate ways and here I am way too late I tried to find you to hug you . I didn't know you was gone I'm so sorry. One day I will see you again love you

I had the privilege of working with Angela and I can honestly say that her light shined bright. Her personality was so bubbly and infectious that I immediately liked her. I was never one for hugs but when she gave you a hug, it was real and filled with so much love and caring that you felt it. I never knew a resident that did not like her because she showed them the genuine compassion that so many lack. Her laugh, my goodness her laugh was just so electric that you could not help but laugh with her. She was truly a good person and my heart breaks for her family.
