What a trooper, what a friend. My heart is heavy knowing I won't see you again for awhile. You are alive as long as we are alive with the memories as we pass them on to others who will share with others. Ad infinitum. So that means you will be around forever in the Fellowship of the Spirit. All the stages of grief will be showing their colors as we realize this is real, this is life and this is God's will. Love you always, Greg P. See you on the other side.

I've been extremely blessed to have spent the last few years close to Sally. We've laughed and cried, loved and lost. Her relationship with God was paramount to everything and He molded her into a wonderful servant. She was a big part of my life that will be impossible to replace. She is and always will be my close friend. I never got a chance to meet her family but she spoke of them often to me. She thought the world of Macy and Mikhail and feel as if I know all of you well. My heart goes out to Ganoa, Niel and Pat. Please don't hesitate to reach out if there's anything I can do.

I have several fond memories of Sally. But the one that sticks out is the day this picture was taken. I remember her pulling me to the side. And told me to just be happy no matter what. It meant alot to me, because she wanted to truly see me happy. She'll be truly missed by many.
