Cookie, I am so sorry I didn't know Dean passed. I will never forget him teasing me and joking around with me when I worked at Walmart. He was such a good guy. I seriously had been thinking about you all recently and it was meant for me to see you yesterday at Walmart. I am sorry I distracted you and the cashier and messed up your order. I was so glad to see everyone again after about two years of not seeing foot in Walmart. Again I am sorry so sorry for your loss. I love you and your family and know that I will Always be here for you. RIP a Dean we will see you again . Love and prayers Laura Mullins

During our days at HHS I can say I only knew who Dean Caldwell was. I did not really know him personally. After they moved back to the area there were times when I would be at 7th Avenue Baptist, having grown up with Cookie at this church and in Sunday School together. On those occasions I became more acquainted with Dean and learned what a tease he was, because while talking to long ago friends with he and his wife, from out of the blue he would tell them that he and I had dated. This came as a surprise to me but as time went by he would continue with this narrative and I learned to accept this as part of who Dean really was and so did his wonderful wife. My condolences to her and his family as he will be missed, but yet for those who know the Savior with whom he's with we know we will see him again.

Gwen - We are so incredibly sorry and are keeping you and your entire family in our thoughts and prayers. Dean was an amazing person, and we so enjoyed every event or activity where we got to spend time with both of you. Whether it was an office activity, a dinner, or even our wedding, Dean never failed to make us laugh.

We even remember when he was the hit of our Halloween party when he surprised all of the guests by showing up dressed as a nurse! Just last week, I was telling the story about the time when we were at the Navy Yard and it was the morning of our annual Christmas cookie exchange. Dean called me and said, "Mark, you're a friend of mine so I need to give you a warning - do NOT eat Gwen's cookies - they're awful!" Apparently, you had made a slight error in the recipe for sesame seed cookies, where you misread two tablespoons, and instead added two CUPS of sesame seeds. Dean told me that he knew it was too much and tried to politely correct you. When you insisted, he went out hunting for enough of them to make two cups. Dean told me, "Do you know how many grocery stores I had to go to in order to find that many sesame seeds when they only sell them in those little jars??" That's what I'll always remember about Dean. Not only was he an amazing friend, but you could always count on him to be supportive in any situation! All our love, Mark and Dawn Dodd
