Ed, you were always a beacon of light, even in the most uncomfortable situations. You went out of your way to make everyone laugh or smile, no matter what. You were the type of person that would've given someone the clothes off your back if they'd ask. You were genuine, kind, and so much more. The world lost a truly wonderful person. I hope that wherever you are now, you are at peace. Thank you for all of the wonderful conversations and all the memories we shared.

You will be so missed. You were always there giving me little crowns for positioning, or offering advice. You were sweet and kind and I'll miss you the most coming on mic during meetings ♥

Ed, you was such a pleasure to work with these past couple years. You not only helped out our team tremendously, you jumped in other team rooms & helped out as well; I even remember you mentoring! You were the only other person from our job I've met from our state too, I'll miss our talks about our Tudors breakfast. Sending my deepest condolences to your family, until we meet again my friend ❤️

To Edward, my co worker, my virtual friend. We never met in person, but over the last year we had some really great conversations and discussions. You've helped me in times of need on the job and vice versa. I'll never forget that enthusiastic voice that was loud (and kiddish as you would say lol). Get your rest. You've earned your way into the kingdom. Until our souls finally meet. - Nace Wilder

Hello. I've had the pleasure of working with Edward for over the past year. Although we've never met in person, talking with him every week through our team meetings and conversations through a team channel he was such a wonderful guy. He was a very Kind, Sweet and a resourceful person that me and my team could rely on for any issues that we had daily. I want to send my deepest condolences to the family and letting them all know I will keep them in my prayers. He will truly be missed.-Shiranda Montgomery
